

DRIVER CPC TRAIN THE TRAINER COURSE - NATIONALLY APPROVED

Introduction

The EDI Driver CPC Train the Trainer Course is the only course of its kind approved by a national awarding body. Specialist Training is an approved EDI Centre and was the first in the country to offer the course to the Transport industry. The course is also recognised by the Joint Approvals Unit for Periodic Training (JAUPT) as evidence of training qualification.

General

The introduction of Driver CPC has led a number of organisations to reconsider their approach to driver training. Many have decided that rather than send their staff on public courses at commercial training centres, they will deliver courses to their drivers themselves using their own members of staff as trainers. Whilst organisations may employ a number of qualified and experienced experts in a variety of subjects, it is usually the case that these individuals have no experience of, or qualifications in, training itself. As part of any Centre approval however, individuals seeking to be approved as trainers are required to have verifiable experience or qualifications to train. Specialist Training's Driver CPC Train the Trainer course addresses this need.

Course Content

The course covers the basic theory of training through to the development of the practical skills a trainer needs to master. There is a good deal of hands on practical work involved and the trainees will be assessed on their ability to deliver both practical and non practical lessons. The course is conducted in the context of the Driver CPC and trainees are taught administrative and development aspects of the Driver CPC relevant to their role as a trainer. Course content includes:

- Learning styles and training styles
- Training objectives and lesson planning
- Training techniques
- Training non practical lessons
- Training practical lessons
- Lesson practices and assessments
- Trainer's role in Driver CPC
- Procedures and administration for Driver CPC courses
